

Mary Horikawa

Mary Horikawa is the Program Manager for CLIMB at The International School of Hospitality (TISOH) in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Horikawa joined the TISOH team in 2018 to build and manage CLIMB, a series of 1-hour e-learning leadership and management courses for those already employed in the hospitality industry.

In the 17 years of hospitality management and leadership, Horikawa has held management positions in all departments of hotel operations, most notably as Hotel Manager at Caesars Palace and Director of Housekeeping at The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas (TCOLV). Horikawa enjoys building teams, organizing operations and building community that attracts others to contribute their efforts fully.

In addition to these management roles, Horikawa revamped a summer internship program and participated in the Emerging Leadership programs for Caesars Entertainment. At TCOLV, Horikawa was recognized as a property leader for team engagement and courageousness.

Lastly, Horikawa regularly volunteers with local non-profit agencies.
